

Table: Accounts in Disaggregated Version of Brazil SAM, 1995-96.

Activities (42)	Commodities (24)
Agriculture (36)
Annuals (8)*	Corn, Rice, Beans, Manioc, Sugarcane, Soy, Horticultural Products, Other Annuals
Perennials (8)*	Coffee, Cocoa, Other Perennials
Livestock (8)*	Milk, Livestock, Poultry
Other Agriculture (8)*	Other Agricultural Products
Forestry (4)	Extractivist Forest Products, Logging, Deforestation
Industry (3)
Food Processing	Processed food
Mining and Oil	Mining and oil
Industry	Industrial products
Services (3)
Construction	Construction
Trade and Transportation	Trade and Transportation
Services	Services
* Disaggregated by region (see note below) and small- and large-holders
 Disaggregated by region (see note below)
 Commodities are produced by activities on the same row.
Factors (39)
Labor (18)	Urban (10) -- disaggregated by skill level and sector of employment* Rural (8) -- disaggregated by skill level and region
Capital (9)	Agricultural (8) -- disaggregated by region and holder size Non-agricultural (1)
Land (12)	Arable (4) -- disaggregated by region Grassland (4) -- disaggregated by region Forested (4) -- disaggregated by region
* The sectors coincide with the non-agricultural activities except for that "trade and transportation" and "services" are treated as one sector.
Institutions (8)
Households (5)	Poor and Medium-Income Rural (2) and Urban (2); High Income (1)
Enterprises (1)
Government
Rest of the World

Note: Regionally disaggregated activities and factors have accounts for each of the following four regions:

Amazon, Northeast, CenterWest, and South and Southeast.

In addition to the 113 accounts listed above, the SAM includes three tax accounts [for tariffs, (other) indirect taxes, direct taxes], accounts for aggregate institutional savings-investment and stock changes, and a total account.